

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE:

A printing apparatus for effect printing using a recording head mounted thereto, the apparatus including communicating means for communication with 5 an information processing apparatus, the apparatus includes control means for determining a kind of device among a plurality of kinds in response to a predetermined operation for setting the kind of the printing apparatus, and operable for the kind thus 10 determined; discrimination means for discriminating whether the kind of device is determined or not; and communication control means for controlling communication with the information processing apparatus by the communicating means in accordance 15 with a result of discrimination of the discrimination means.

20

25